"The publisher has just finished reviewing pages for your book and he loves it!"

--Pam Rosenberg

Nancy Robinson Masters is a popular inspirational speaker for schools, businesses, organizations, and events. She has spoken to more than 300,000 students in schools across America through her visiting author programs. Her warmth and wit inspires listeners of all ages to laugh, cry, and fly high.

Nancy is a pilot and the author of 44 books, including award-winning books for children. Her more than 3,000 feature articles have appeared in a variety of publications. Her writing has taken her around the world including traveling with the National Science Foundation in Antarctica.

Nancy grew up on a cotton farm in Jones County, Texas, during the terrible years of drought in the early 1950s. She credits much of her success today to the values, patriotism, and work ethic instilled in her during those difficult years. A licensed pilot, she resides on a farm in the Elmdale community near Abilene, Texas, adjacent to the airport built by her husband and writing partner, Master Aviator Bill Masters. Her most important work in life, Nancy says, is "teaching children in Sunday School."
